The Honorable Dan K. Moore
Governor of North Carolina
Raleigh, North Carolina

My dear Governor Moore:

At the time Assistant Professor Hausman made the regrettable assertions on Sunday, April 7, the remarks did not immediately register with me for I was concentrating on getting the marchers to disperse. Nor did I hear any of the subsequent broadcasts. It was, therefore, not until a few days later that it was brought to my attention precisely what had been said.

I perhaps should have written you immediately my deep apologies for this grievous incident which occurred on the sidewalk of our campus and was spoken by a member of this faculty. Instead I have concentrated on the possibility of achieving from him and our faculty a suitable expression of apology and concern. I have not given up on this latter course, but I have not yet succeeded.

I can only beg you, as much as is humanly possible, to minimize the incident, to accept my word that large numbers of this faculty were dismayed at the remark, and leave it to me to give you a later report.

Meantime, be assured that there has not been the slightest lack of concern on my part and that my distress at the calumny is real and great.

Respectfully yours,

John T. Caldwell
Chancellor
